

Lidings announces the start of cooperation with the candidate to participate in the innovational project «Skolkovo» - DuPont corporation

Lidings is the leading Russian law firm, dedicated to advising foreign companies on all aspects of Russian law announces the start of cooperation with one of the largest chemical transnational corporation in the world - DuPont.

The first assignment within the framework of cooperation will be representation of DuPont's interests in the International Commercial Arbitration Court in an action brought by one of the largest chemical enterprises in Russia against a company belonging to DuPont group.

Lidings' Partner and Litigation and Arbitration Practice Group Head Andrey Zelenin noted: «During the last two years we have significantly raised our expertise in the litigation and arbitration of commercial disputes which is illustrated by the status of companies retaining Lidings when searching for a legal advisor in Russia. We will make every effort to ensure that our cooperation with DuPont has received the highest possible development».

Brief information about DuPont in Russia:

Founded in USA in 1802, DuPont has been working in Russia since 1974 and developing such markets as agriculture, food processing construction, automotive and oil and gas industry. By the end of 2010 the company's turnover in Russia is $ 400 million, and by 2015, DuPont plans to increase this figure several times. DuPont's world turnover in 2009 was $ 27.3 billion.